Notes

Records used to investigate incidences of sexual violence may also be documenting various outcomes relevant to that activity. If this is the case, then there may be a need to retain records for a longer period of time. Each location can determine if the same set of records will be used for the other purposes or whether there may be other copies of the records kept by other custodians for different purposes. The language in the schedule tends to indicate that there will be records held by others, so that there are other copies. However, if a location had shared recordkeeping systems with various departments, it could be possible that there would only be one set of the records at that location.

1. These records do not include the records held by campus police departments although law enforcement activities may occur due to the nature of an investigation and the records may be used during any criminal adjudication processes.
2. All Other Copies: Copies which may be disseminated to others that are used for other purposes such as disciplinary actions or other investigational activities should be maintained for the retention periods designated for the function of the activities involved. Any other copies are considered non-records, and should be retained only until their usefulness has passed, but never any longer than the official record.
3. Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act
4. Clery records are found in the UC Records Retention Schedule as item 0007A8*, which has a retention period of "Official Record: Retain records for three years from the latest publication of the Annual Clery Report to which they apply.
